Dean Hall
Pine Grove Vicinity
Berkeley County
South Carolina

Historical Data:

The Nisbetts of Dean, a family of Scottish baronets, owned Dean Hall for nearly a century, before it was bought in 1821 by William Augustus Carson and his mother. He built his celebrated house in 1827 of brick made across the Back River at Medway. It is well adapted to the southern climate with an encompassing piazza that afforded a superb view over his surrounding plantations, and gave shade without obstructing air.

In 1909, Dean Hall was sold to Mr. Benjamin R. Kittredge of New York, who out of the rice-reserve waters created their well-known Cypress Gardens.
